Wen-Hsiu (pronounced “wen-show”) Wang is an illustrator based in Taiwan. Her work captures quiet, introspective moments through soft textures, subtle color palettes, and emotionally driven compositions. Often blending the surreal with the mundane, she explores themes of memory, inner dialogue, and the in-between spaces of daily life. She also enjoys playing with comic formats to explore pacing and visual rhythm, inviting viewers to linger, interpret, and feel. Through editorial, publishing, and personal projects, she aims to create illustrations that speak gently but stay with you.
