

Amy Schimler-Safford

www.amyschimler.com

Amy Schimler-Safford has had an impressive career as a textile designer and children's illustrator for over two decades. Her children's book illustrations have been well reviewed and award-winning. In 2010 "Why is the Sky Blue?" was paired with an Eric Carle title for Booktrust.org's book bag program. Over 700,00 book bags were distributed to first year students throughout the UK. Some very generous words used to describe her work: "glimmering", "lavish", "vibrant", "gorgeous", "magical", "lush", "amazing", "breathtaking", "gloriously colorful", "dreamlike", "luminous", "dynamic", "engaging", "skillful", "alluring" and a "celebration of observation".

Rep: Marietta B. Zacker | marietta@galltzacker.com

SAMPLE WORK

