Wen-Hsiu Wang

www.wenhsiu.tumblr.com

Wen-Hsiu (pronounced “wen-show”) Wang is an illustrator based in Taiwan. Her work captures quiet, introspective moments through soft textures, subtle color palettes, and emotionally driven compositions. Often blending the surreal with the mundane, she explores themes of memory, inner dialogue, and the in-between spaces of daily life. She also enjoys playing with comic formats to explore pacing and visual rhythm, inviting viewers to linger, interpret, and feel. Through editorial, publishing, and personal projects, she aims to create illustrations that speak gently but stay with you.

Wallace West

www.wallacewest.com

Wallace West is an award-winning children's book author-illustrator and a world explorer. His first picture book, Mighty Red Riding Hood, won a Lambda Literary Award. He also illustrated the New York Times bestselling middle-grade Dogtown series by legendary authors Katherine Applegate and Gennifer Choldenko. Kirkus has called his illustrations "utterly charming" and "expressive" with a vibrancy "that relates as much of the story as the text itself." Wallace was born in Houston, Texas, came of age in Paris, France, and spends most of his time on the U.S. East Coast. By day he writes and scribbles, by night he dreams of adopting a snake.
